

STOOKEY'S STORY
WAS NOT FAIRGave Misleading Figures About Per Capita College Cost.ESTIMATES FROM LOGAN
LATTER TO SHOW ADVANTAGE
OF A. C.

Logan, March 18.—The estimates of Representative Stookey of Salt Lake, as to the cost per capita of educating students at the Agricultural college and University of Utah, were read here today with considerable interest, and they are taken generally to indicate the general unfairness of the university partisans in this matter. In the first place, Mr. Stookey insists that at the university appropriation is included money intended for buildings and equipment, "which will be used by future generations," and yet when he made that statement he knew that a considerable portion of the A. C. appropriation was now for the building of new buildings and equipment.

Then he figures out an attendance for the university of 1,288, including in that number 175 training school students, which he well knew were not entitled to be counted, for Salt Lake City pays a considerable amount for their education. He includes fifty kindergarten students, but he is fair enough to admit that only $5,000 was asked for kindergarten purposes. He also counts 150 summer school students, who cost the state nothing, but yet when he omits to mention the A. C. summer school.

The truth of the matter according to the Logan contention is this: The A. C. registrar's report shows a total attendance of 726—real, legitimate students—and their total income from state and federal sources is $180,000, giving a per capita of $247, as Mr. Stookey says.

The university, according to the registrar's report, has 87 bona fide students, and it gets for them, according to Mr. Stookey, $201,000, or $339 per capita, or if one takes Mr. Stookey's own figures of 92 for the total attendance that the U. of U. can legitimately claim, the per capita is $333, a difference of $86 per capita in favor of the Agricultural college. If the A. C. people desired to be as unjust in their estimates as it must appear to an unprejudiced person Mr. Stookey was, they could have counted as students the persons taking special musical studies at the college, the great number of people who attend Professor Clark's veterinary clinics and general experiments who visit the experiment station and college regularly. By doing so, they could have swelled the attendance figures to over 300, but they did not do so. If any citizen wants to figure the thing out himself let him secure copies of the catalogues of both institutions, compare the students, note the appropriations allowed each and then get the real cost per capita to the state.

The Cache Valley Farmers' association held a meeting here today to discuss dairying. William Kirkup of Franklin, Ida., was the principal speaker, and he impressed upon the farmers the necessity of keeping pure bred dairy animals.

The Jersey, he thought, led all other breeds as milkers, but that they required unusual care in order for the best results to be obtained. Holsteins he had found by experience to be the best dairy cow, all things considered. One of his Holsteins last year produced 319 pounds of butter, besides raising her calf, and she received other feed than good, buttern hay and pasturage in the summer time. After deducting $12 for the hay and $8 for pasturage, he had $60 left as the net earnings of the cow for the year. He maintained that it does not pay to feed dairy cows grain, and urged farmers in buying pure bred dairy animals to watch for the one with a good milk strain in it, the strain being the most necessary consideration.

The following new committees were named: On livestock, Wm. Kirkup, William Kirkup of Franklin, John B. Benson, Andrew Anderson of Mendon and James Jensen of Millville; on implements, John Q. Adams, W. C. Dunsen and I. C. Thorsen of Logan, Sidney Beckstead of Whitney and A. O. Jackson of Paradise. The association meets again on April 15 at 1 p. m.

TROOPS DRIVE LESSEE
FROM VENEZUELAN MINES

New York, March 19.—The Herald this morning prints the following dispatch from Port of Spain, Trinidad: News has reached Port of Spain that the governor of Barcelona, Venezuela, has received from President Castro orders to take possession at once of the coal mines of Guanabacoa situated near Barcelona, and leased in 1898 for thirty-three years by the Venezuelan government to an Italian company. The same day the Venezuelan troops took possession of the mines by armed force, as in the similar case of the New York & Bermudez company, this notwithstanding the protest of the Italian manager. This action has been taken without a judgment of the court of Caracas.

The Italian legation has been notified and Baron Alotti, Italian charge d'affaires, is represented as having entered a protest.

New Presbyterian Church in Ogden, Constructed and Dedicated After Twenty-five Years of Effort.

PRESBYTERIANS DEDICATE NEW CHURCH

Realization of Hope of Twenty-Five Years.LONG STRUGGLE IS ENDED
SPLENDID MUSIC, ELOQUENT
WORDS MARK EVENT.

After more than a quarter of a century of effort, the Presbyterian congregation of Ogden has at last erected and dedicated a splendid house of worship, a structure that even in its material aspects is an ornament and object of pride for the city.

With splendid music, with eloquent words, amid the incense of fragrant flowers and in the presence of over 500 people, the structure was yesterday dedicated as a house of worship, and now stands complete as one of the finest churches of the west and one designed to meet the needs of a thriving and constantly growing congregation.

While most of the sixteen who one September evening more than twenty-five years ago met and inscribed their names on the original church roll of the First Presbyterian church of Ogden have passed from earth to other fields of labor, there were nevertheless present many who had worked unceasingly during later years that a church home might be built. Rev. S. E. Wishard, who laid the foundation stone of the present structure in June of 1880, and who since that time has been in the partially completed building 125 times, supplying the pulpit at times when there was no pastor available, was present on this occasion and assisted in the dedicatory services.

Rev. John E. Carver, the present pastor, who came to this as his first charge, and who at once organized, has since directed the movement which resulted in the erection of the church, was on hand and preached the dedicatory sermon.

Formation of the Church.

In order to note the inception of the movement resulting in the building up of a substantial church edifice and a large congregation, a transcript of the minutes of the first meeting in Ogden of the Presbyterian church organization, when sixteen members gathered together, is here given:

"Record of organization of the First Presbyterian church of Ogden, Utah, Sept. 29, 1878.

"First Presbyterian church of Ogden was organized on Sunday evening, Sept. 29, 1878.

"The commissioners of organization appointed by the Presbytery of Utah were: Rev. R. G. McNeice, Rev. S. L. Gillespie, Rev. W. C. Gallagher, twenty persons were received into the membership of the church by letter, as follows: Mrs. G. W. Gallagher, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kay, Mr. James D. Case, Mr. and Mrs. David McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Schenk, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Barrows, Mrs. E. J. Washburn, Mrs. Sarah J. Vance, Mrs. Anna Siebert, Mr. Henry C. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Cole, Mrs. M. E. Grant and Miss Eugene Grant, Mrs. Margaret Bruce, Mrs. Ella Ridgeway.

"James D. Case was elected elder for a term of three years; Mr. Freeman Schenk for a term of two years, and Mr. H. C. Baker for a term of one year.

"Meeting closed.

"G. W. GALLAGHER."

Organization Always Preserved.

The society met in various places during the succeeding years, sometimes having services and sometimes not, but the organization was kept intact. For a considerable period the church had its headquarters in the building at the corner of Lincoln avenue and Twenty-fourth street, which has since been utilized by the Christian Science.

In 1890 the organization was becoming prosperous, like many other organizations in Ogden during those years, and a site for a new church was purchased at the southeast corner of Twenty-fifth and Adams avenues. The site was soon afterwards for $15,000 and purchased. The present site for the same amount. The construction of the present church structure was then commenced. One of the chief workers at that time was Theodore Robinson, since removed to Idaho. Rev. Josiah McClain was the interesting to note that period and it is interesting to note that while the church afterwards removed to Nevada he remained in Ogden and yesterday dedicated the Ogden Presbyterian chapel in Salt Lake, where he is now laboring. With the immense decline in values which followed Ogden's boom the church as well as other institutions suffered from financial stringency and the plans for the building could not be carried out.

The Sunday school, prayer meeting room and study were completed and the foundation for the entire structure put in place and the building was commenced. The Sunday school room served as a room for worship until the services yesterday which were held in the fine new auditorium.

Rev. Charles F. Richardson was pastor during the later years of 1890 and the church was held together and was successful, but it was decided that the building operations would not be resumed until times were more prosperous. After the departure of Mr. Richardson to Montana the church was without a regular pastor for a time.

REV. JOHN E. CARVER.

The pastor of the First Presbyterian church of the city, whose energetic work has done much toward the completion of the building, is of Quaker ancestry and a native of Bucks county, Pa. He was graduated from Lake Forest college, and then went to

About June 1, Rev. John E. Carver came to this city, where he has been engaged as pastor. He at once set about the work of organizing and directing the church efforts toward the erection of the new building. He and his congregation worked together and the walls of the building began to rise. It was a monument to industry and persistence. The cost of the structure was about $55,000. The main auditorium is 150x80 feet in dimensions with the back part 75x40. There is a roomy basement under the entire structure and a kitchen and dining room are also included.

The interior of the audience room is designed with a view to giving the most convenient and acoustic properties. The windows are of beautiful stained glass and some of them were given by individuals and organizations of the church. The large window is a representation of the Good Shepherd and was given by C. E. Brainard, now of Payette, Ida., the memory of his parents, The Y. P. C. E. furnished the large east window which is a representation of Ruth, the Good Shepherd.

The large round window in front shows the Christ Child in the manger and was the gift of Mrs. Barry. Other windows were contributed by Mrs. J. R. Cooper, Mr. C. F. Dinsmore, and R. B. Lewis. A large chandelier was the gift of the Young Men's league.

Programme is Followed.

The dedicatory services yesterday were carried out practically as indicated in the programme published in The Herald of yesterday. Assisting Rev. Mr. Carver in the services were Rev. S. E. Wishard of Salt Lake and Rev. Leon C. Hills of Evanston, who was a classmate of the Ogden pastor. There was a good musical programme in which Miss Johnson, Miss Clare and H. M. Linsley took leading parts. Dr. W. C. Gallagher gave a scriptural reading and Rev. Mr. Hills the benediction.

The dedicatory sermon of Mr. Carver was from the First Corinthians, third chapter and sixteenth verse: "Know ye not that ye are the temple of the holy spirit?"

The speaker said that in this verse Paul lays life to its highest meaning by transferring it from the earthly to the heavenly standards. If we are temples of the holy spirit then mind, heart and soul should be kept clean from impure and unholy thought and affections. "Every church," said the pastor, "is a mingling of earth and heaven. So too is the life of the individual. It is the chief function not only of the church, but of the individual members to further complete this earthly and heavenly union by lifting up more of the heavenly standards and of bringing more and more the earthly to heaven.

"The members of a church are really that church. The world does not care about their belief so much as about their lives and the world gives value to that life according as it shows vigor or apathy in its faith. The world understands charity, service, sympathy, and Christian integrity and as these qualities are high or low the world loves or despises a church. In dedicating the building the

JULIUS KIESEL'S INTERMENT.

Last Rites Are Attended by Several Organizations.

The burial of Julius Kiesel was conducted yesterday afternoon, the services being at the Episcopal church. There was the regular Episcopal service for the dead and a discourse by the Rev. Alfred Brown. Besides the large number of individuals, friends, a number of fraternal organizations and other societies of which the deceased was a member attended the services. These included the Masons, the A. O. U. W., the Elks, the Chinese Masonic lodge, which attended out of respect to Mrs. Kiesel, and the various organizations which have been mentioned in several ways, the bakers' association and the retail grocers' association.

Sunday Performances.

The sacred concert, which was advertised for last night at the Grand opera house, did not take place. Manager Grant having abandoned the plan in view of the fact that prosecution for violation of the city ordinance might follow. The Utah Opera house gave its performance, but no arrests were made last night. The chief of police, it is understood, will today consult the county attorney and the question of what constitutes a sacred concert, and whether prosecutions can be maintained against the play houses that give concerts more or less sacred and charge admission fees, will be discussed.

James Horrocks Dead.

James Horrocks, who was one of the best known business men of Ogden, died early Sunday morning at his home on Twenty-second street, after an illness several weeks. The funeral notice will be given later.

Ogden Briefs.

George Brunner, the fireman who was so severely scalded in the explosion of an engine at Echo, is still at the city hospital, and while he is making fair progress he is not yet considered out of danger.

Services in Evening.

In the evening there were union services at which the congregations of the Methodist, Baptist, Congregationalist, Lutheran and the Central Park Presbyterian churches participated. There was another splendid musical programme, and in this connection it may be stated that Rev. John E. Carver has already begun work to secure a new pipe organ for the church as an expression of assurance that it will be in place before the end of the year.

The programme last night included short addresses by the visiting pastors. The subject of Rev. S. P. Wishard was "The Church as an Evangelistic Force." Rev. Horace E. Blood spoke of "The Church as an Ethical Force." Rev. L. C. Hills of "The Church as a Missionary Force." Rev. James Thompson took his subject, "The Bible as a Force in Character Building," and Rev. O. A. Elmquist told "Why You Should Love Your Church."

A notable feature of the services was the floral decorations, the pulpit being flanked with hundreds of calla lilies.

RICHARD J. TAYLOR'S BURIAL

Impressive and Eloquent Services by Large Concourse of Friends.

With every mark of honor and esteem that friends could bestow their lives to suggest the body of Richard J. Taylor was yesterday carried to its resting place in the city cemetery. Services, simple but beautiful and impressive, were held over his bier. Friends of all ages and creeds gathered to pay tribute to the memory of the deceased. The remains were viewed by hundreds at the home on Jefferson avenue during the morning hours and at 2 o'clock were taken to the Third ward meeting house where Bishop James Witherston presided as officiating minister. The principal address was by Moses Thatcher of Logan, his voice vibrant with the emotions of a life-long friendship as he told of the early life of the late Mr. Taylor. The speaker said that Richard J. Taylor had constantly held as his ideal the life of his father, President John Taylor. Among the masses on masses of flowers that were sent by friends was a large bouquet of lilies placed on the casket and the speaker made a beautiful comparison of the life of his departed friend to these flowers.

The order of services are the following: Hymn by the Third ward choir, "Nearer, Dear Savior to Thee," opening prayer, James Witherston, quartette, "I Need Thee Every Hour," address, President Charles F. Middleton; address, Moses Thatcher.

A TRAINED NURSE

After Years of Experience, Advises Women in Regard to Their Health.

Mrs. Martha Pohlman of 55 Chester Avenue, Newark, N. J., who is a graduate nurse from the Blockley Training School, at Philadelphia, and for six years Chief Clinic Nurse at the Philadelphia Hospital, writes the letter printed below. She has the advantage of personal experience, besides her professional education, and what she has to say may be absolutely relied upon.

Many other women are afflicted as she was. They can regain health in the same way. It is prudent to heed such advice from such a source.

Mrs. Pohlman writes: "I am firmly persuaded, after eight years of experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that it is the safest and best medicine for any suffering woman to use."

"Immediately after my marriage I found that my health began to fail me. I became weak and pale, with severe bearing-down pains, fearful backaches and frequent dizzy spells. The doctors prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I would blot after eating and frequently become nauseated. I had an acid discharge and pains down through my limbs so I could hardly walk. It was as bad as a case of female trouble as I have ever known. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, however, cured me within four months. Since that time I have had occasion to recommend it to a number of patients suffering from all forms of female difficulties, and I find that while it is considered unprofessional to recommend a patent medicine, I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for I have found that it cures female troubles where all other remedies fail. It is a grand medicine for sick women."

Money cannot buy such testimony as this—merit alone can produce such results, and the ablest specialists now agree that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most universally successful remedy for all female diseases known to medicine.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, headache, etc., they should at once write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. In her great experience, which covers many years, she has probably had to deal with dozens of cases just like yours. Her advice is free and confidential.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

Mrs. Martha Pohlman

ness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is vegetable and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles.

The needless suffering of women from diseases peculiar to their sex is terrible to see. The money which they pay to doctors who do not help them is an enormous waste. The pain is cured and the money is saved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Experience has proved this.
